SUMMARY

---

I have a deep passion for narrative audio and my career goal is to work on high-end productions as a Utility Sound Technician. Just before moving back to Canada I joined an ITV crime drama called Karen Pirie for the course of production as a Sound Trainee. Working under Sound Mixer Graham McCormick – and a First and Second Sound Assistant – I moved kit; distributed IEMS; charged batteries; managed carpets; ran coffee; dismantled, sanitised and bagged equipment; and generally kept my crewmates well equipped with supplies. I listen well to instructions and keeping myself busy. Before Karen Pirie I worked on commercial jobs and shorts for three years as a Sound Mixer. I handled all set sound requirements including attaching wireless mics to talent, boom operating, managing kit and communicating the needs of sound to the ADs. I also managed a Boom Operator if the budget permitted. I'm a supplementary member of Association of Motion Picture Sound (AMPS).
